I. Preamble

Career Instructional non-tenure track faculty (Career NTTF) are vital to the life of the University. Their classroom teaching role is most visible, but they also often administer programs, oversee undergraduate curricula, and participate in university governance. Through advising and encouragement of students' intellectual activity outside of class, they enhance both the quantity and quality of the education we provide. This document is meant to make all contributions by Career NTTF apparent and to describe how they fit into a standard workload.

II. Workload Expectations for Career NTTF

A. Proportions of 1.0 FTE Expected for Teaching and Other Activities

1. Career NTTF whose primary responsibility is instruction are expected to devote 90% of their effort to teaching and 10% to service and professional development. Modifications of these percentages for special work assignments and special types of NTTF positions are described below. If Graduate Teaching Fellows are assigned, supervision of their activities are incorporated into teaching duties.

B. Teaching

1. The standard NTTF course load in the department is nine courses during the regular academic year. A standard full-time load would include three 4-credit courses per term. Career NTTF are eligible to teach at all levels of our undergraduate curriculum, and may teach graduate students in combined 400/500 level courses.

2. Career NTTF are expected to advise and mentor students who take their courses insofar as this is considered a normal part of teaching any course. They should hold regular office hours during the terms in which they teach, a minimum of three hours per week, and make themselves reasonably available to students via email and/or other appropriate online media.

3. Career NTTF are also expected to revise their courses as needed to incorporate advances in academic content and pedagogy, and to ensure that they continue to promote the learning outcomes of the departments and programs (including General Education) of which they are a part.

C. Non-teaching Activities

1. Career NTTF are expected to devote 10% of their effort to service and professional development. Effort is prorated for part-time appointments. Service activities may include department/program committees on which NTTF participate (as delineated in the unit's governance document), college and university service, formal advising and mentoring, professional development, scholarship, and community service relevant to the position. Service assignments within the department/program are at the discretion of the head/director or her or his designee in consultation with the Career NTTF.

2. Career NTTF with full academic year appointments should participate on one standing departmental committee.

3. Career NTTF with full academic year appointments are expected to hold office hours during Week of Welcome and attend the departmental graduation ceremony.

D. Advising and Student Contact

1. Routine advising of, and contact with, students taking their courses is considered a normal part of faculty members' teaching activities as described above in section B. Small, voluntary, and/or irregular advising assignments (such as occasional supervision of undergraduate theses or a small caseload of undergraduate major advisees) count toward service expectations in section C.

2. Career NTTF will follow Student Conduct and Community Standards procedures for incidences involving students enrolled in their courses.

E. Major Administrative Work

1. This work is distinguished from other tasks above by its duration and level of responsibility. It includes activities such as oversight of academic programs, assignment as professional academic or career advisors, and other major administrative responsibilities. Approval of more than one course release for an individual requires prior consultation with the Dean or her/his designee. Major administrative tasks assigned to NTTF faculty and their associated course release and/or stipend will be included in a job description and/or memo of understanding.

F. Equity and Inclusion

1. Faculty are expected to contribute to the University's goals regarding equity and inclusion. These contributions may consist of research, teaching, and service activities as appropriate, as well as involvement with academic and professional associations, non-profit, governmental, and/or private sector organizations.

III. Teaching Assignment Process for Adjunct NTTF

A. Teaching and Service within the Department
1. Except as otherwise determined by the Provost, Dean, or other designee, the department head shall be responsible for the scheduling and assignment of all faculty members' professional responsibilities.

2. Teaching assignments are based on curricular needs, NTTF academic expertise, and classroom availability. Career NTTF are typically eligible to teach undergraduate courses that are also taught by tenure-related faculty. Tenure-related faculty have priority.

3. A faculty member shall be afforded the opportunity to meet with his or her department head at least annually, before responsibilities are assigned, to discuss his or her preferences regarding assignments for teaching, research, service and other professional responsibilities, and anticipated resource needs. The Provost or designee may modify scheduled assignments, provided that the department head discusses changes with the faculty member before they are made and that changes are not made for arbitrary or capricious reasons.

4. Faculty members may request to adjust schedules or assignments.

5. Assignment of professional responsibilities shall reflect a realistic balance of duties consistent with the criteria for review.

B. Special Teaching and Service within the Department

1. Separately from any course release that may be associated with major administrative positions, a course release may be offered to a career NTTF to perform a specific teaching- or service-related assignment for the department or program, so long as the unit can still meet its instructional needs with existing resources. Approval is at the discretion of the unit head in consultation, as applicable, with other officers or committees charged with course planning. Occasions for course release at the discretion of the unit head include the following:

   a) An unusually heavy workload relative to the department norm

   b) A special professional development opportunity related to the faculty member’s instructional duties or position description

   c) A special teaching or service opportunity that benefits the department, college, or university

2. In units with more than one career NTTF, discretionary course release may not be used to reduce the course load for all career NTTF in the unit without the approval of the Dean or Dean’s designee. Likewise, discretionary course releases may not be used to reduce the course load for an individual on a multi-year basis without the approval of the Dean or Dean’s designee.
Approval of more than one such release for an individual requires prior consultation with the Dean or the Dean’s designee.

C. Teaching and Service outside the Department

1. A Career NTTF faculty member may be offered a course release(s) from the home department, with or without a stipend, to teach a course(s) in another department or program, or to perform administrative service outside the home department. Approval of such assignments is at the discretion of the Provost, Dean, or other designee, acting in consultation with the heads or directors of both the home and the host departments or programs. An important consideration will be maintaining the curricular and enrollment needs of the department.

D. Course Release for Grants and Fellowships

1. A Career NTTF who has received, or is supported by, an internal or external grant or fellowship may be released from teaching one or more courses, so long as (a) sufficient course buyout funds are available from the grant or fellowship and/or other approved sources to fund the replacement of the instruction that would be lost as a result of such release(s), and (b) such release(s) from teaching would not, in the judgment of the department head, unduly compromise the department’s ability to meet the curricular and enrollment needs served by the faculty member’s course(s) in either its own or other academic programs. The applicable course buyout rates and guidelines on replacement instruction are those set forth in the College and/or University policies in effect on the date the teaching release(s) is first approved. The allotment of stipends will be consistent with university policy.

E. Overload Assignments

1. An overload assignment is (1) an assignment that is in addition to the faculty member’s regular assignment and FTE status; (2) a one time or limited assignment, made or approved by the Provost or designee, that is in addition to or different from regular or usual assignments for the member’s classification and rank; or (3) assignments unrelated to the bargaining unit member’s primary job responsibilities.

2. Except as otherwise indicated in the June 10, 2014 Memorandum of Understanding regarding overload assignments, or in successor agreements, overload appointments will be assigned an FTE percentage commensurate with normal workload duties and compensated accordingly. Faculty may request that overload compensation take the form of class release. No bargaining unit faculty member may be disciplined or terminated for refusing an overload assignment. Appointments for which compensation is paid, in whole or in part, with federal funds may be ineligible for overload compensation.
F. Course Cancelation Policy

If a teaching assignment is cancelled for any reason, the department or unit head will consult with the faculty member and assign alternative duties at the same FTE in the same term, or reassign the affected faculty member to an appropriate course, or alternative assignment, in the same academic year.
